

GENERATION NEXT

After a lifelong education in jewelry from her father, a noted designer and artist in his native Istanbul, Karina Ariana has created an eponymous collection of her own. The diverse line is composed of sterling silver, 18K rose or yellow vermeil and cubic zirconia and employs proprietary techniques, including a process that gives pieces a rich looking seared surface. (800) 223-6644

Two-finger snake ring in 18K-plated sterling silver and cubic zirconia. MSRP: $375

MULTIPLE CHOICE

The latest capsule collection from Graziela Gems mimics the look of stacked rings in a single piece. Pavé-set diamonds highlight the contours of each, and coordinating ear cuffs, studs and drop earrings soon will be added to the line, too. grazielagems.com

Rose wave ring in 18K rose gold and diamonds. MSRP: $7,190

Kaslique earrings in 14K white gold and diamonds. MSRP: $1,595

EDITORIAL OPINION

Gabriel & Co. enlisted veteran fashion editor Hal Rubenstein to serve as the company's first global style director. In the role he's curated five new collections in gold, sterling silver, diamonds and colored gemstones to inspire women to wear fine jewelry every day. gabrielny.com

Two-tone steel and red gold bracelet watch. MSRP: $3,850

TIME LINE

Promesse is the first ladies' watch introduced by Baume & Mercier in nearly a decade. It is available in two sizes—30 and 34mm—and 14 variations, with either quartz or mechanical movements. In a nod to the brand's novel watches from the '70s, the graceful design has a round dial and oval case. Prices begin at $1,900. baume-et-mercier.com

URBAN LURE

New York is inseparable from the identity of jewelry label Stacked. The pieces are produced there and each of the 30 designs is named for a Manhattan street. Every style — whether hammered or hand engraved — is available as a band or bangle, and is meant to be worn with others. stackednewyork.com

Argentium silver stacking bands. MSRP: from $100 to $150

